Media Relations

The Media Relations Office is located on the Upper Suite Level of Toyota Center, 1510 Polk Street, Houston, TX 77002.

Credentials

All requests for working press, photo and broadcast credentials for Houston Comets home games should be made in writing on company letterhead by an authorized editor or sports director by noon the day before the game requested. Direct all requests to Bob Schranz, Comets Media Relations Manager, Houston Comets, Toyota Center, 1510 Polk Street, Houston, TX 77002 or by fax at (713) 758-7339. All credentials can be acquired at the media entrance of Toyota Center on La Branch Street.

Interviews

All interview requests for the Houston Comets should be directed to Bob Schranz. The Comets coaching staff and players are available for interviews each practice day. On game days, players are generally available for a 30-minute period beginning 90 minutes before tip off; following games — after a 10-minute cooling off period — both coaches will be available in the post-game interview area or outside the team's locker room. The locker rooms will then be opened for player interviews. Anyone wearing a media credential will not be allowed to obtain autographs.

Game Night

The media entrance is located on the La Branch Street side of Toyota Center. The press door opens two hours prior to tip off. Press parking is available at Toyota Tundra Parking Garage (at the intersection of Jackson and Leeland) and the First City Tower Garage (at the intersection of Lamar and Caroline). Parking is for working media only with proper credentials.

Practices

Team practices may be closed with the exception of the last half-hour, of which, must be open to the media. Players and staff will be available for interviews during a designated access period, either before or after practice.

Photographers

The photography areas in Toyota Center are along the baselines opposite both team benches. No photographers will be allowed on the sideline areas in front or behind the team benches or in front of press row. Please make all requests for strobe lighting to Bob Schranz at least two days prior to the game in question. In addition, please observe the WNBA rules for player escape routes — an open area approximately five feet on both sides of the basket. For player safety, we also ask that you do not leave your camera unattended in your working area. No tripods are permitted on the floor.

Fax-on-Demand System

In conjunction with WNBA FaxBack, all game notes, rosters, statistics, schedules and box scores will be available on the system. The WNBA FaxBack number is (201) 974-6094.

Owner

Awarded Franchise: October 30, 1996

College: New York University '65

it's a beautiful thing.

On October 30, 1996, Houston Rockets Owner Leslie Alexander brought another professional basketball team to Houston — the WNBA's Houston Comets.

When the NBA Board of Governors decided to create the Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA), Alexander saw an opportunity to bring a new and exciting brand of professional basketball to the fans of Houston. Alexander, who knew firsthand of the city's love for professional basketball, eagerly applied for the right to operate one of the league's eight charter franchises.

Houston was granted a franchise and immediately Alexander set out to build another championship team. He strongly believed that in the first year of play, exceptional leadership from the right coach could carry a team to a championship. After an exhaustive search, Alexander hired Head Coach Van Chancellor from the University of Mississippi. Alexander's formula worked to perfection as the Houston Comets set the standard in the WNBA by capturing the first four league titles.

"Women's basketball has been a great success in Houston because Houston is a great basketball city," Alexander said. "The fans love the Houston Comets and now the city can boast of four championships."

Chancellor, who was named WNBA Coach of the Year for three consecutive seasons (1997-99), knew that the Rockets organization was one with a dedication to winning.

"One of the main reasons I came to Houston was because of Leslie Alexander's commitment to winning," Chancellor said. "This is a first-rate organization, and I knew if I took this position, I would be a part of a winning franchise. Leslie and I talked about winning the first WNBA Championship when I was hired. I knew by his excitement and enthusiasm that he had a serious commitment. What a thrill it was to share that championship with such a great owner."

Alexander has continually proven his commitment to success, enabling the Comets to be the only team in the WNBA to make the playoffs every year since the league's inception in 1997:

- In 1997, the selection of Tina Thompson number one overall in the WNBA Draft, forming the "Big Three" with Cynthia Cooper and Sheryl Swoopes.
- In 1997, acquiring Janeth Arcain through the WNBA Elite Draft and adding Tammy Jackson.
- In 1998, drafting Polina Tzekova with the tenth selection overall. Tzekova became an integral part of the 1999 championship team.
- In 2002, trading for WNBA star Rebecca Lobo and drafting Michelle Snow.
- In 2002, the signing of Head Coach & General Manager Van Chancellor to a multi-year contract extension.
- In 2003, the re-signing of Cooper to play with the Comets.
- In 2004, trading for Kedra Holland-Corn and signing Gordana Grubin.

Since 1993, Alexander has dedicated himself to building the Rockets and Comets in every area. His vision to construct a downtown arena took shape in November 2000, as Harris County voters approved a referendum to build a new home for the Rockets and Comets. Groundbreaking for the arena took place on July 31, 2001. Alexander's tireless efforts became a reality with the opening of Toyota Center in September 2003, building on his mission to be one of the league's elite teams on and off the court.

While Alexander's teams have been most successful on the basketball court, unique to the Rockets and Comets organization is its off-the-court commitment to the community. Building a better quality of life for Houstonians is the driving force of Alexander and the franchise.

"It's so important to me that the Houston Rockets and Comets find a way to thank the fans for their overwhelming devotion to our teams. One way we try to do that is by reaching out to help young people through our community programs and fundraising initiatives," Alexander said.

In 2002 and 2003, Alexander donated to Goodfellows two of the largest single contributions in the program's history. The Houston Chronicle project, Goodfellows, provides holiday gifts to needy children ages two through 10.

In 1995, Alexander established the Clutch City Foundation with the goal of providing help, hope and inspiration to those who might otherwise be forgotten. Through efforts of the Clutch City Foundation, players, coaches and business team members are involved in a multitude of community service and charity fundraising programs. Nine years of active community involvement have resulted in over $5 million in donations to local charities, allowing the Clutch City Foundation to impact tens of thousands of Houstonians each year.

On July 30, 2003, the Comets joined members of M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in a dedication and ribbon cutting ceremony to mark the opening of Kim's Place. It was in the spring of 1999 when Alexander initially turned the attentions of the Clutch City Foundation to addressing this need very near and dear to Comets fans. In honor of the late Comets point guard, Kim Perrot, and her battle with cancer, Kim's Place will provide adolescents battling cancer a place to relax and play between treatments with others who share their unique challenges. Proceeds from the Clutch City Foundation's April 1999 Tux & Tennis Charity Gala were part of the initial gift for building Kim's Place. Then in July 2000, the organization made a $1.25 million donation to establish Kim's Place through a partnership with The University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center. The seven-figure gift was the second-largest single donation ever made by an NBA team. Since then, countless Comets as well as Kim Perrot fans from around the world have contributed to the Kim's Place fund.

On July 23, 2003, the Comets and Clutch City Foundation held the Second Annual Houston Comets Charity Luncheon. In the past two years, Alexander's event has raised more than $85,000 for the renovation of a basketball court used in the Therapeutic Recreation Program at the DePelchin Children's Center as well as for the refurbishment of basketball courts in the Houston Independent School District.

When flooding from Tropical Storm Allison devastated the Houston area in June of 2001, the Houston Rockets and Comets helped to raise over $230,000 for flood relief by auctioning off hundreds of memorabilia items, including authentic rings from each of the organization's six championships. In addition to donating all of the memorabilia for the auction as well as the funds raised, Alexander and the NBA & WNBA gave $150,000 to the flood relief effort.

In 1998, Alexander's organization was awarded the Leadership Houston "Leadership in Action" Award for outstanding community service to education, one year after winning the same award for outstanding community service to youth.

In 1997, Alexander and the Rockets were honored with the Pro Team Community Award, given by the World Sports Humanitarian Hall of Fame. This award recognizes one professional team each year that exemplifies community service and acts as a catalyst for community pride and spirit. In accepting the award, Alexander said, "The Rockets are honored to represent our great fans in bringing this special recognition to our community. It is our privilege and responsibility to help make a difference in the lives of Houstonians in need."

The Clutch City Foundation funds and operates comprehensive programs benefiting thousands of children each year. Through the Clutch City Foundation, Alexander and the Houston Rockets and Comets organization will continue to make a difference in the lives of Houstonians for years to come.

George N. Postolos

President & Chief Executive Officer

George Postolos is in his sixth season with the organization, and oversees all facets of the organization's business operations.

On a day-to-day basis, Postolos leads the senior management team in overseeing the Houston Rockets, Houston Comets, Toyota Center and related businesses. He sets strategic goals for the organization and analyzes future growth opportunities for the enterprise. Postolos also supervises each of the organization's business units, including broadcasting, business development, community relations, corporate development, finance and administration, legal, marketing, media relations, as well as ticket sales and services. He also works closely with Owner Leslie Alexander in pursuing new sports properties and other business opportunities.

Since arriving in Houston, Postolos has worked diligently to further the organization's mission to be one of the league's elite teams on and off the court. His commitment has included an intense focus on community service and charitable giving. He has provided direction on all business decisions and enhanced the relationship the team enjoys with the community. Over the past five years, Postolos and the organization have achieved many successes, including:

- The negotiation and organization of support for a new downtown arena in Houston, culminating in the construction and launch of Toyota Center in September 2003.
- The innovative naming-rights agreement for Toyota Center, which includes an unprecedented in-bowl vehicle display and an expansive vehicle showroom on the concourse.
- Formation of Clutch City Sports & Entertainment, the operating company for Toyota Center.
- Creation of the Houston Regional Sports Network, which will air Rockets, Comets and Astros games as well as other Houston sporting events upon its launch in 2005.
- Institution of a private-label integrated ticketing and customer relationship management system to get closer to and provide outstanding service for Toyota Center customers.
- A ribbon-cutting ceremony on July 30, 2003, to mark the opening of Kim's Place, a special facility in honor of the late Comets point guard, Kim Perrot, for adolescents battling cancer. Kim's Place was made possible by a $1.25 million donation from the Rockets and Comets to M.D. Anderson Cancer Center.

Postolos arrived in Houston after a two-year stint as Special Assistant to NBA Commissioner David Stern. It was during his time working for Stern that Postolos made an impression on Alexander. When Alexander began looking for a new face to head his sports enterprise, Postolos, with his knowledge of the NBA and Texas ties, was an obvious choice.

Raised in San Antonio, Postolos worked as a teenager for his hometown San Antonio Spurs, which were owned by family friend Angelo Drossos. He left Texas after high school to pursue both undergraduate and law school degrees at Harvard, then clerked for a judge on the Texas Supreme Court before joining the New York law firm of Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz.

Postolos and his wife, Nicole, reside in Houston with their nine-year-old son and one-year-old daughter.

Executive Vice President of Basketball

Carroll Dawson is in his 24th season with the Houston Rockets organization and eighth as the Executive Vice President of Basketball for the Houston Comets.

Prior to the inaugural 1997 WNBA season, Dawson was commissioned by Owner Leslie Alexander to help assemble the first Houston Comets team. He guided the efforts to bring Sheryl Swoopes and Cynthia Cooper to Houston, and then drafted Wanda Guyton and Janeth Arcain in the WNBA Elite Draft. Dawson was also instrumental in the selection of Tina Thompson with the first pick of the Inaugural WNBA Draft. Finally, he worked with Alexander to hire three-time WNBA Coach of the Year Van Chancellor. Currently, Dawson is Chancellor's top advisor on all basketball matters.

Dawson, who also serves as General Manager for the Houston Rockets, joined the organization in 1980. Prior to assuming his current position, Dawson worked as an assistant coach under four Rockets head coaches, aiding Del Harris from 1980-83, Bill Fitch from 1983-88, Don Chaney from 1988-92 and Rudy Tomjanovich from 1992-96.

Affectionately known as "CD," Dawson oversees all player personnel activity for the Rockets. His duties include managing the entire scouting department, which includes an analysis of athletes at both the amateur and professional level. Dawson deals with free agency issues, trade inquiries and the assessment of the team's needs.

Dawson is recognized as one of the top executives in the NBA. Since moving to the Rockets front office job in 1996, he has shown the ability to both bolster a playoff contender with veterans and acquire emerging talent as part of a youth movement. In his first few years, he made trades for Charles Barkley and Scottie Pippen to give a team led by Hakeem Olajuwon even more experience. Dawson then used the mid-level exception to bring in players such as Shandon Anderson and Maurice Taylor. Since 1998, Dawson and the Rockets have acquired several young talents, including Cuttino Mobley, Steve Francis and Yao Ming.

This past season, Dawson helped the Rockets add depth and veteran experience to their lineup. Houston bolstered its nucleus of Yao, Francis and Mobley with the signings of Jim Jackson, Mark Jackson and Eric Piatkowski, along with the midseason trade for Clarence Weatherspoon.

Dawson holds the distinction of being the only person on all four coaching staffs that led the Rockets to their NBA Finals appearances, as Houston advanced to the championship series in 1981, 1986, 1994 and 1995. Dawson works closely with Head Coach Jeff Van Gundy in his current front office capacity.

Dawson is known throughout the NBA for his work with frontcourt players and has also been credited with teaching Hakeem Olajuwon his infamous jump hook. Dawson has worked with and coached many NBA All-Stars throughout his years with the Rockets, including Barkley, Elvin Hayes, Moses Malone, Ralph Sampson and Tomjanovich.

A native Texan, Dawson hails from Alba, population 200, about 75 miles east of Dallas. As a 6-foot-5 high school center, he led Alba High School to a 44-3 record as a senior. He then went on to win Junior College All-America honors at Paris Junior College (Texas) under Head Coach Boyd Converse. After two seasons at Paris, Dawson moved on to Baylor University, where he led Bill Henderson's Baylor Bears in scoring and rebounding in each of his two seasons. In 1960, he averaged 16.4 points as a senior to earn All-Southwest Conference honors.

In 1963, he returned to Baylor as an assistant to Head Coach Bill Menefee. He later succeeded Menefee as head coach in 1973, remaining in that position for more than three seasons. After spending two years as a scout for the Dallas Cowboys at the call of executive Gil Brandt, Dawson started a career as a salesman for Converse Shoe Company.

Among the honors Dawson has received are induction into the Paris Junior College Hall of Fame in 1991, the Baylor University Hall of Fame in 1998 and the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame in 2001. This past season, Dawson received one of his greatest accolades when he was inducted, along with Tomjanovich, into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

One of the top golfers in the NBA, Dawson resides in Houston with his wife, Sharon. Sharon has a daughter, Elizabeth and a son, Michael.

HOUSTON

Since being named Head Coach and General Manager of the WNBA's Houston franchise on April 29, 1997, Van Chancellor has continued to raise the standard of excellence within the arena of women's basketball. His efforts are evident by both his record and the accomplishments of his individual players. Entering his eighth season with the Comets, Chancellor ranks as the winningest coach in WNBA history with a 161-59 (.732) regular season mark and an 18-9 (.667) record in the playoffs. Chancellor's Comets seized the first four WNBA Championships and stand as the only team in the league to have qualified for the playoffs in each of the past seven seasons.

Chancellor, who is the only head coach in the WNBA to have been with his original team since the league's inception in 1997, has received many accolades as head coach. He earned WNBA Coach of the Year honors three consecutive seasons (1997-1999) and was named head coach of the Western Conference All-Star Team three straight years (1999-2001). Chancellor's exceptional collegiate and professional coaching career was recognized with induction into the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame on June 9, 2001. He was also inducted into the Ole Miss M-Club Athletic Hall of Fame on August 31, 2002, as well as the East Central Community College (Decatur, MS) Athletic Hall of Fame in October 1998.

In his seventh season with the Comets, Chancellor led his team to a 20-14 record and a spot in the 2003 WNBA Playoffs. Houston's defense again led the way, ranking first in the WNBA for fewest points allowed per game (63.0) for the fourth time under Chancellor's watch. Sheryl Swoopes also earned her third WNBA Defensive Player of the Year honor. Although Cynthia Cooper's return to play with the Comets was cut short due to right shoulder surgery, Chancellor saw the emergence of Michelle Snow, who was named WNBA Most Improved Player of the Year.

In 2002, Chancellor guided the Comets to a 24-8 record and a sixth journey to the playoffs. The Comets also won a franchise-best 13 consecutive home games (May 29-Aug. 6) and finished with the WNBA's best home record (14-2). In addition, Houston's stifling defense ranked first in the league in points allowed per game (59.1) and opponent field goal percentage (.375). Swoopes returned to action, and for the second time in her career, captured both the WNBA Most Valuable Player and Defensive Player of the Year awards in the same season.

Despite the loss of Swoopes to a season-ending knee injury and the retirement of Cooper, Chancellor led his team to a 19-13 mark in 2001 and a fifth-consecutive trip to the playoffs. In addition, Janeth Arcain earned the WNBA Most Improved Player award and Tina Thompson became just the fifth player in WNBA history to record 2,000 points.

During the 2000 season, Chancellor and the Comets won their fourth consecutive WNBA Championship and became the only professional sports franchise in the United States in the past decade to win four straight titles. The Comets concluded the regular season with a 27-5 record and a perfect 6-0 mark in the playoffs. Individual honors went to Swoopes, who won her first-ever WNBA Most Valuable Player award and was named as the league's Defensive Player of the Year. Cooper was also named MVP of the WNBA Championship series for the fourth-consecutive time.

Chancellor and his team spent the 1999 season on an emotional roller coaster. In February, the team's starting point guard, Kim Perrot, was diagnosed with cancer and began a difficult battle with the disease that ended on August 19 at age 32. Despite the tragic loss of a friend, Chancellor helped guide the team to a 26-6 regular season record and a third WNBA Championship.

In 1998, the Comets set numerous league records en route to a decisive 27-3 finish and a second WNBA title. The team's .900 winning percentage in the regular season is still the best finish in the history of professional basketball, men or women. Houston also recorded 15 consecutive wins between June 27 and July 30, which is the longest streak in team history. Individual honors followed the team's success, as Cooper captured her second-straight WNBA Most Valuable Player award. Following the season, Chancellor coached the 1998 WNBA Touring Team, a squad of elite WNBA players who competed against the best teams in Brazil.

In his first year with the Comets, Chancellor led the team to an 18-10 mark, the best record in the league, and his first of three consecutive conference titles. The inaugural season was one of unpredictability for Chancellor as Houston's franchise player, Swoopes, was on the sidelines expecting her son, Jordan. Left with a lineup of players that included Cooper, first-round draft pick Thompson and Brazilian phenomenon Arcain, Chancellor used his coaching skills and positive outlook to help produce a championship team.

In addition to his coaching experience in the WNBA, Chancellor guided the 2002 USA Basketball Women's World Championship Team to a perfect 9-0 record and the gold medal at the 14th FIBA World Championship for Women held in the People's Republic of China (Sept. 14-25). Named to his position on November 8, 2001, Chancellor's USA squad defeated Russia, 79-74, for the United States' seventh gold medal in World Championship play. Chancellor also led the USA Basketball Women's World Championship Team to a 4-0 mark and the 2002 Opals World Challenge title in pre-tournament action. His work with the team earned Chancellor the honor of USA Basketball 2002 National Coach of the Year and his Women's World Championship Team was named 2002 USA Basketball Team of the Year. On June 10, 2003, Chancellor was named head coach for the 2004 USA Basketball

Women's Olympic Team, which will compete in the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Greece (Aug. 13-29). His 2004 USA Basketball Women's Senior National Team closed out its 13-game spring training with an unblemished 13-0 record (3-0 in Cuba Series, 6-0 on European Tour, 4-0 on Domestic Tour).

Before joining the professional ranks, Chancellor spent 19 successful seasons as the head coach of the University of Mississippi Lady Rebels. Under his guidance, the Lady Rebels posted a winning percentage of .740 (439-154), made 14 NCAA Tournament appearances and became recognized as one of the premier women's basketball programs in the nation. As a collegiate coach, Chancellor ranks 14th in all-time winning percentage amongst women's basketball coaches. Chancellor, who was named SEC Coach of the Year on three occasions (1987, 1990, 1992), never had a losing overall record at Ole Miss despite competing in one of the toughest conferences in the nation. In addition, his 1991-92 team won the program's first-ever SEC regular season championship.

Chancellor played two years of basketball at East Central Junior College in Decatur, MS. Chancellor later transferred to Mississippi State, where he earned a bachelor's degree in math and physical education in 1965. He also entered the coaching ranks during his senior year at Mississippi State, serving as head coach of the boy's basketball team at Noxapater High School. Chancellor went on to coach boy's and girl's basketball at Horn Lake High School and at Harrison Central High School in Mississippi. Chancellor received his master's degree in physical education from the University of Mississippi in 1973.

Born September 27, 1943, in Louisville, Mississippi, Chancellor and his wife, Betty, live in Houston and have two children, John and Renee, and four grandsons, Nicholas (6), Jacob (5), Joseph (2) and Zachary (2). A book published in the fall of 1999, Nothin' But a Champion, chronicles Chancellor's life from his childhood in Mississippi through his third WNBA Championship with the Comets. During the offseason, Chancellor does motivational speaking and serves as a television color analyst for SEC women's basketball. He has also done color commentary for women's college basketball on ESPN/ESPN2 as well as during the network's coverage of the 2003 Women's NCAA Basketball Tournament. Chancellor's other visits behind the microphone include color analysis for several radio broadcasts for University of Houston Lady Cougars basketball and as a substitute color analyst on several television broadcasts for the Houston Rockets. Chancellor is also a tireless contributor to the community and his church. Among his vast involvement, Chancellor has participated as a guest teacher during Teach For America Week and has been a guest speaker through the Prison Fellowship Ministries. On December 23, 2003, he hosted a group in serving a special holiday lunch and delivering gifts to the Open Door Mission in Houston.

Alisa Scott
Assistant Coach

Alisa Scott begins her seventh season as an assistant coach with the Houston Comets after joining the team on July 3, 1998. Her appointment to the Comets staff reunited her with Van Chancellor, who she previously coached under and played for at the University of Mississippi.

Included in her role with the Comets, Scott works with the team's post players, including 2000 WNBA All-Star Game MVP Tina Thompson. Also under her tutelage, center Michelle Snow earned WNBA Most Improved Player of the Year in 2003. In addition to three titles with the Comets, Scott has also served as an assistant coach for the WNBA Western Conference All-Star Team on three occasions (1999, 2000, 2001). She originally joined the Comets staff after replacing Peggie Gillom, who was named head coach at Texas A&M University midway through the 1998 season.

Prior to joining the WNBA, Scott spent six seasons as an assistant coach at Old Dominion University. During Scott's tenure at ODU, the Lady Monarchs captured six straight Colonial Athletic Association titles and made six trips to the NCAA Tournament, including four Sweet 16 appearances, one Elite Eight and one Final Four. She joined the ODU staff after one season as an assistant at Maryland, helping the Lady Terrapins to an Elite Eight finish. Scott began her coaching career at her alma mater as a restricted earnings assistant on Chancellor's staff for one season while completing her undergraduate degree.

On the court, the former Lady Rebels underwent professional basketball in Italy for three years and was a member of three USA Basketball teams, including the silver-medal-winning 1985 USA World University Games Team and the gold-medal-winning 1987 Pan American Games Team.

Scott played college basketball at the University of Mississippi under Chancellor and finished her career in the top ten in several categories, ranking sixth on the Lady Rebels' all-time list for points (1,488), fifth in blocked shots (64) and second in steals (329). She earned several honors and awards, including Kodak All-District honors and First-Team All-Southeastern Conference accolades. During the 1986-87 season, Scott led the Lady Rebels in points (14.3) and rebounds (6.9) per game. She was also named SEC Player of the Week on January 19, 1987. Overall, Scott played in four NCAA tournaments with Mississippi, including two Elite Eight finishes and two Sweet 16 appearances.

A native of Vicksburg, MS, Scott is the youngest of seven children. She attended Warren Central High School in Vicksburg and was selected the 1983 Mississippi High School Player of the Year by the Clarion Ledger/Jackson Daily News. In 2001, Scott was honored by the Mississippi Legislature with an official resolution commending her outstanding achievements.

Kevin Cook
Assistant Coach

Kevin Cook enters his eighth year with the Houston Comets after joining the team at the start of the 1997 season. Cook and Comets Head Coach Van Chancellor are the only two coaches in the WNBA who have been with their original team since the league's inception eight years ago.

Cook, who works with Houston's perimeter players, has also served as an assistant coach for the Western Conference All-Star Team at the 1999, 2000 and 2001 WNBA All-Star Games. During the offseason, Cook serves as head coach of Everyone's Internet basketball team, a squad comprised of WNBA players and college graduates who compete on a collegiate tour each November. His past teams hold wins over Connecticut, Maryland, Rutgers and West Virginia.

Prior to joining the Comets, Cook gained 12 years of coaching experience at the collegiate level. As the top women's basketball assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at the University of Houston, Cook's primary focus was on the Lady Cougars frontcourt. He also coordinated Houston's annual summer camps. Before working at UH, Cook was the head women's coach at Garden City (KS) Community College, leading the Lady Broncobusters to a 21-win season in 1994-95. He also took the team to an appearance in the national junior college rankings.

Most of Cook's coaching knowledge came under the tutelage of long-time mentor Marian Washington. Cook served as Washington's assistant women's coach at the University of Kansas from 1984-93, helping lead the Jayhawks to three Big Eight titles. Several of Kansas' rookie classes were ranked among the top in the nation, largely due to Cook's recruiting efforts.

Cook began his coaching career during his senior year of college at Urbana University, serving as an assistant varsity coach and head junior varsity coach. He also filled the role of sports information director during that time. In 1982, he founded the city of Urbana's Amateur Athletic Union, coaching the men's and women's youth teams during the summers of 1982 and 1983. His women's teams won the state tournament and represented Ohio in the National AAU Tournament.

A native of Fremont, OH, Cook is a 1983 graduate of Ohio's Urbana University, where he earned his bachelor's degree in social sciences. Cook, who runs his own basketball camps, has conducted clinics at Gallaudet University, which is the only liberal arts university in the world designed exclusively for deaf and hard of hearing students, as well as in the Virgin Islands. In addition to his camps, Cook serves as the radio play-by-play announcer for the University of Houston Lady Cougars. He has also worked as a color commentator for the UH men's and women's basketball teams. Cook lives in Houston with his wife, Aisha, who was a four-year letterwinner for the UCLA Bruins from 1994-99. He is father of two daughters, Keshana (10) and Kayla (7).

Michelle T. Leget
Coordinator of Sports Medicine

Michelle Leget enters her eighth season with the Houston Comets, and her first as Coordinator of Sports Medicine. She spent her first seven seasons as the head athletic trainer after joining the organization in May of 1997. Leget oversees all of the team's preventative care, treatment and rehabilitation as well as administrative responsibilities.

Leget is also a member of the Houston Rockets athletic training staff. She is responsible for daily treatment, care and rehabilitation of Rockets players as well as assisting Vice President of Basketball Operations/Athletic Trainer Keith Jones in all other duties. Leget became the first female assistant athletic trainer in NBA history when she was hired by Houston in 1997.

In addition to her role with the Comets and Rockets, Leget was selected to serve as the athletic trainer for the West Team at the 1999 and 2001 WNBA All-Star Games. On March 14, 2002, Leget was chosen as the athletic trainer for the 2002 USA Basketball Women's World Championship Team, which won the gold medal at the 14th FIBA World Championship for Women held in the People's Republic of China.

Before joining the Comets and Rockets, Leget was an associate athletic trainer at the University of Houston for four years, working primarily with the Cougars football program. Leget also served as a graduate assistant trainer from 1991-93 at the University of Florida, where she worked with the Gators volleyball program.

A native of Vienna, VA, Leget received her bachelor's degree in sports medicine from Central Michigan University in 1990. She went on to earn a master's of exercise and sports science in athletic training and sports administration from the University of Florida in 1993. Leget is also a certified member of the National Athletic Trainer's Association and a member of the National Basketball Trainer's Association.

Samantha Hicks
Head Athletic Trainer

Samantha Hicks enters her first season as head athletic trainer with the Houston Comets. Hicks is responsible for the daily management and prevention of injuries, physical therapy and rehabilitation of the players. She also serves in an administrative role as traveling secretary, assisting with the organization of all team travel.

Hicks joins the Comets after working as a clinical coordinator at Baylor College of Medicine Orthopedic Surgery, where she assisted in providing healthcare to orthopedic injuries sustained by athletes and the general public. She also served as the head athletic trainer for the Houston Stealth of the National Women's Basketball League during the 2003 NWBL season.

While attending college, Hicks served as a student intern assistant with the Comets training staff (2002, 2003) and performed an athletic training internship with the Houston Rockets (2003). She was also a graduate assistant athletic trainer and teaching assistant at Eastern Kentucky University.

A native of Evergreen Park, Illinois, Hicks received her bachelor's degree in exercise and sports studies from Tarleton State University in 2001. She went on to earn a master's degree in exercise and sports studies from Eastern Kentucky in 2003. Hicks grew up in Houston and attended Klein Forest High School.

Harold Liggins
Video Coordinator

Harold Liggins enters his seventh season as video coordinator for the Houston Comets. Liggins is responsible for all video breakdown and advance video scouting for the Comets.

Prior to joining the Comets, Liggins spent 30 years as the head coach at Port Gibson (Miss.) High School. During his high school coaching career, Liggins helped lead his girl's basketball team to two state basketball titles in Mississippi (3A & 4A).

His championship-caliber teams included former Comets player Yolanda Moore. In 1985, Liggins coached his 14-under girl's basketball team to a national AAU title in Kansas City, MO.

In the offseason, Liggins resides in Port Gibson, MS, with his wife, Gloria, and their two children, Angela and Tori.

Strength & Conditioning Coach

Wendy Dutch begins her fourth season as strength and conditioning coach for the Houston Comets. Dutch designs and implements the player's individual strength, conditioning and nutritional programs on a year-round basis. She also coordinates the team's flexibility program and assists the Comets sports medicine staff in the rehabilitation of injured players.

In addition to the Comets, Dutch has previously assisted Anthony Falsone, the Houston Rockets strength and conditioning coach.

Prior to joining the organization, she served as a certified fitness leader and personal trainer/group exercise leader, providing one-on-one training sessions and leading a variety of group exercises. Dutch, a former San Antonio Spurs Silver

Dancer, also worked with professional and competitive dancers in providing regimens to increase flexibility and balance.

A native of New Hampshire, Dutch holds a bachelor's degree in kinesiology from the University of Houston. She is also a certified strength and conditioning specialist (C.S.C.S.) as well as a nationally ranked fitness competitor. Dutch is also involved with Elite Fitness Professionals, which along with Gold's Gym, host the Annual "Fitness for a Cure" Gala to benefit St. Jude Children's Research Hospital.

Anthony Nila
Equipment Manager

Anthony "Tony" Nila II enters his fourth season as equipment manager for the Houston Comets and his sixth year with the organization. Nila's responsibilities include ordering and maintaining all of the team's equipment as well as assisting with team travel.

Nila joined the Houston Rockets basketball operations staff during the 1998-99 season and has served as an assistant under Rockets equipment manager Jay Namoc.

The native Houstonian attended Elsie High School and spent five years of his youth as a Rockets ball kid. Nila is also pursuing a degree in general business from the University of Houston.

Comets Executive Staff

Marcus Jolibois
Chief Financial Officer

Marcus Jolibois is in his 10th season as the organization's Chief Financial Officer. He oversees all accounting, financial and administrative operations for the Houston Rockets, Houston Comets and Toyota Center. Jolibois is also responsible for the development and maintenance of the organization's data and information systems.

Jolibois also oversees the financial and administrative operations of the Clutch City Foundation, the non-profit charitable foundation established by Owner Leslie Alexander. He is also a member of the Rockets and Comets senior management team, which analyzes future growth opportunities for the enterprise.

A 1981 graduate of Gonzaga University in Spokane, Washington, Jolibois joined the Rockets staff on November 15, 1994, after working for eight years at Levitz, Zacks and Ciceric in San Diego, California. He served as the audit manager for the firm from 1986-94. Prior to his time with Levitz, Zacks and Ciceric, Jolibois worked for two years as an operational and financial auditor for a Fortune 50 Company in San Diego. From 1981-84, he began his accounting career with Peterson, Sullivan, and Co. in Seattle.

Jolibois, a native of Tacoma, Washington, and his wife, Diane, live in The Woodlands with their four sons, Andrew, Connor, Scott and Luke.

Thaddeus Brown
Senior Vice President of Marketing & Sales

Thaddeus "Tad" Brown is in his second season with the organization, and his first as Senior Vice President of Marketing & Sales. He originally joined the Houston Rockets, Houston Comets and Toyota Center as Vice President of Corporate Development. Brown is responsible for the supervision and integration of the corporate development, marketing, and ticket sales and services departments. He works closely with President & Chief Executive Officer George Postolos as a lead member of the organization's senior management team, developing future growth opportunities for the enterprise.

In his role of Vice President of Corporate Development, Brown played a significant part in the naming-rights agreement with Toyota Center.

Before joining the Rockets and Comets, Brown was a Founder & President of Streetball Partners International. He worked with the NBA and NBC Sports over the past decade to build Streetball into the largest global grassroots basketball property in the world. During his tenure at Streetball, he developed relationships with several prominent clients, including Gatorade, Southwest Airlines, Anheuser-Busch, Nike, Spalding, Foot Locker, Toyota and MasterCard. Brown managed all sales, sponsor service, licensing and new business initiatives for Streetball. He saw Streetball grow from a staff of 10 to over 250 employees during his tenure.

Brown is a graduate of Colgate University, where he was a four-year starter and three-year captain of the varsity basketball team. He and his wife, Janice, have four daughters, Kennedy, Addison, Nicolette and Chloe.

Mark S. Biskamp
Vice President & General Counsel

Mark Biskamp is in his first season as Vice President & General Counsel of the Houston Rockets and Comets. He is responsible for all legal matters concerning business and team operations. His major areas of focus include legal matters for Toyota Center, television and radio agreements, sponsorship agreements, intellectual property matters, human resources matters, risk management, and compliance with league rules. In addition, Biskamp assists the basketball operations staff with the management of legal issues relating to each of the teams. He is also a member of the organization's senior management team.

Prior to joining the Rockets and Comets, Biskamp was an attorney with Baker Botts L.L.P. in Houston, where he handled professional sports and entertainment matters, real estate, and other business transactions. Biskamp was also formerly Vice President & General Counsel of a large, Dallas-based direct sales company that owned and operated a number of subsidiary businesses, including the Dallas Mavericks.

Biskamp graduated with high honors from the University of Texas at Austin and received his law degree from Southern Methodist University School of Law. He also earned a master's degree in educational and school psychology and a Ph.D. in clinical psychology from the University of Virginia. In addition to being an attorney, Biskamp is a licensed psychologist and has served as a jury consultant and mediator in civil trials. He is a member of the Houston Bar Association and State Bar of Texas.

Biskamp lives in Houston with his wife, Miriam and daughter, Emily.

Comets Executive Staff

David Carlock

Vice President of Business Development

David Carlock joined the organization in January 2001 as Vice President of Business Development. Since then, Carlock has overseen the design, construction and operation of Toyota Center and has worked on new business initiatives, including the Houston Regional Sports Network (launching in 2005) and Toyota Center's new ticketing system.

Before coming to Houston, Carlock served as the Chief Operating Officer of ZooBa.com, an on-line direct marketing company acquired in December 2000 by a division of Bertelsmann AG.

His first work with the National Basketball Association came during his tenure as the Vice President of NBA City, a restaurant concept developed by the NBA and Hard Rock Cafe International. Prior to NBA City, Carlock worked as a Senior Analyst in The Walt Disney Company's Corporate Strategic Planning Department. In addition to extensive work on resort and theme park projects, he played a key role in the creation of the ESPNZone sports bar and restaurant.

A native of Weston, Massachusetts, Carlock lives in Houston with his wife, Laura.

Tim McDougall

Vice President of Marketing

Tim McDougall is in his third season as Vice President of Marketing with the Houston Rockets, Houston Comets and Toyota Center. His duties include overseeing marketing, promotions, game operations, media relations, broadcasting and community relations. McDougall is also a member of the senior management team, which analyzes future growth opportunities for the enterprise.

Since joining the organization, McDougall has helped launch the award-winning "Be Part of Something Big" advertising campaign for the Rockets and the "Comets...it's a beautiful thing." McDougall also played a critical role in the design of the Rockets new logo and uniforms.

McDougall worked for seven years in brand management for Miller Brewing Company before joining the Rockets and Comets. He most recently served as the Senior Brand Manager for Miller Lite, responsible for all advertising, promotions, planning and strategy regarding Miller's largest brand. Prior to his work with Miller Brewing Company, McDougall spent five years with the Austin advertising agency of GSD&M. Among his clients during his time at GSD&M were Pebble Beach Resorts, the PGA TOUR, Ben Hogan golf clubs and Coors Brewing Company.

A native of Chicago, McDougall received both his bachelor's degree and MBA from the University of Texas. He lives in Houston with his wife, Beth, and son, Max.

Mark Norelli

Vice President of Ticket Sales & Services

Mark Norelli is in his third season as Vice President of Ticket Sales & Services for the Houston Rockets, Houston Comets and Toyota Center. Norelli oversees all ticket department aspects for the organization, including managing ticket services, box office operations and ticket sales account executives. He is also a member of the senior management team, which analyzes future growth opportunities for the organization.

Norelli joined the Rockets and Comets with fifteen years of sports industry management experience. Prior to coming to Houston, Norelli worked for two years as the Owner & President of Turnstile Marketing Consultants. Norelli's company assisted a variety of high profile clients in the sports industry, including the National Basketball Association, the Detroit Pistons, the Colorado Rockies and the University of Pittsburgh. Overall, Norelli spent six years with Turnstile Marketing Consultants.

Norelli also possesses nearly ten years of experience in the ticket sales departments of Major League Baseball's San Francisco Giants and Pittsburgh Pirates. He served as the Vice President of Ticket Sales for the Giants for three seasons. With the Pirates, Norelli served in several roles on the executive level for six seasons, including three years as the team's Senior Director of Sales & Marketing. Norelli worked as the Campaign Director for SRO Consultants before joining the Pirates.

Norelli lives in Humble with his wife, Melanie, and their son, Joseph.

Toyota Center Management

Doug Hall
General Manager of Toyota Center

Doug Hall is in his first year as General Manager of Houston's Toyota Center. Hall is responsible for the day-to-day operations of the venue, including booking of all Toyota Center events and the management of Toyota Center staff.

Hall joined the organization after spending three years with Mellon Arena in Pittsburgh, home of the National Hockey League's Pittsburgh Penguins, where he also served as General Manager. While in Pittsburgh, Hall managed all facets of an arena that hosted more than 125 annual events, including at least 45 NHL games. In this capacity, Hall was involved in the booking of all third party events and shows, contract negotiations and the overall marketing of the facility.

Hall originally entered the arena operations industry with Mellon Arena, named the Pittsburgh Civic Center at the time. He spent five years during his first tenure in Pittsburgh, leaving as Director of Operations. In 1997, Hall joined the staff of ALLTEL Stadium, home to the National Football League's Jacksonville Jaguars, as Stadium Director, where he oversaw all operations of the facility. Hall was later promoted to Sports Complex Director, where his role expanded to include the overall management and operations of ALLTEL Stadium, as well as Veterans Memorial Coliseum and Wolfson Park, a minor league baseball facility.

A native Houstonian, Hall is a graduate of Lamar High School. He also holds a bachelor's degree in journalism from Texas A&M and a master's degree in sports administration and facility management from Ohio University. He resides in Houston with his wife, Sue Ellen, and four children.

Comets Broadcast Team

Jeff Hagedorn
"Voice of the Comets"

Jeff Hagedorn enters his sixth season as the "Voice of the Comets" this summer. Hagedorn handles play-by-play duties for both radio and local television broadcasts. He also hosts the studio halftime and post-game shows for Houston Rockets games televised on KNWS TV51. Hagedorn previously served as host for the radio pre-game, halftime and post-game shows for the Rockets.

Hagedorn served two previous stints in the NBA ranks. He spent two championship years (1991-92 and 1992-93) with the Chicago Bulls as the studio host for their flagship station, WMAQ. Hagedorn again returned to championship form when he spent the 1994-95 season with the Rockets as the team's studio host.

Before returning to Houston, Hagedorn held the position of anchor/sports reporter for KARE-TV in Minneapolis from February through September 1996. He was also an anchor/sports reporter with WFLD-TV in Chicago from September 1996 through February 1999.

Prior to joining the NBA and WNBA ranks, Hagedorn spent a year anchoring the Minnesota Vikings network and hosting talk shows on the all sports station, KFAN Radio in Minneapolis/St. Paul from October 1993 through October 1994.

Hagedorn graduated in 1990 with a communications degree from Loyola University in Chicago. A Chicago native, Hagedorn resides in downtown Houston.

Cynthia Cooper
Television Analyst

Cynthia Cooper enters her first season as a member of the Comets television team. She will serve as television color analyst for the local telecast of Comets games. Cooper also works as the Houston Rockets studio analyst and halftime feature reporter for games televised on KNWS TV51.

Cooper, who steps off the court and behind the camera for the Comets broadcast team, was a two-time WNBA Most Valuable Player (1997, 1998) with the Houston Comets. She recorded career averages of 21.0 points, 4.9 assists and 3.3 rebounds in 124 games with the Comets. Cooper helped the team win four consecutive titles and was named WNBA Finals MVP in each of the championship runs (1997, 1998, 1999, 2000). She was also a four-time All-WNBA First-Team member (1997, 1998, 1999, 2000).

Between her stints with the Comets, Cooper served as head coach of the Phoenix Mercury. She compiled an overall record of 19-23 (.452) from 2001-2002.

As a collegian, Cooper made three NCAA Final Four appearances with the University of Southern California. Cooper was also a member of the 1988 (gold medal) and 1992 (bronze medal) USA Olympic Teams.

Cooper was born in Chicago, Illinois, but raised in Los Angeles, California. She currently resides in Sugar Land with husband, Brian; twins Brian Jr. and Cyan; and sons Tyquon, Anthony and Tyrone. She also raised four nieces, Brenda, Latesha, Keila and Danielle. (For more information on Cooper, see page 57).

Craig Ackerman
Substitute Radio Play-by-Play & Studio Host

Craig Ackerman begins his third season as the substitute play-by-play announcer for Comets radio broadcasts, and his sixth overall on the broadcast team. Ackerman will substitute as the radio play-by-play person when Jeff Hagedorn is broadcasting the games on television.

A 10-year member of the Rockets organization, Ackerman is also studio host for the Rockets radio network. Along with his on-air duties, he serves as Broadcast Manager in the Houston Rockets and Comets broadcasting department.

In addition to the Comets, Ackerman has previously served as the "Voice of the University of Houston Cougars" men's basketball and football programs. From 1997-2000, he was a member of the Rice Owls radio network. Ackerman was the sideline reporter for Rice football, as well as the play-by-play man and color analyst for Rice men's and women's basketball programs. Ackerman also served as a play-by-play man, color analyst and studio host for the Houston ThunderBears of the Arena Football League.

Ackerman and his wife, Shannon, live in Missouri City with their sons, C.J. and Chase.

Comets Broadcast Team

Matt Bullard
Radio Analyst

Matt Bullard returns for his sixth season as the radio color analyst for home broadcasts of the Comets. Bullard, who began serving as a radio color commentator while a member of the Houston Rockets, was a 12-year veteran of the NBA.

Bullard began his NBA career with the Rockets in 1990-91. He played nine seasons in Houston, including the 1993-94 championship campaign. Bullard also spent the 1995-96 season with the Atlanta Hawks and was a member of the Charlotte/New Orleans Hornets in 2001-02 and 2002-03. He finished his college basketball career at Iowa after transferring from Colorado following his sophomore season.

Bullard is also featured in weekly NBA segments on KPRC-TV "Sports Sunday" as well as on SportsRadio 610. In 2003-04, Bullard served as the substitute color analyst for Rockets games televised on KNWS TV51. He and his wife, Paula, have a daughter, Sara, and a son, A.J.

Tim Parris
Television Producer/Director

Tim Parris returns for his eighth season as a member of the Houston Comets broadcasting team. For the past seven seasons, Parris has served as the producer/director for Comets television. Parris also serves as the producer/director for Houston Rockets games on KNWS TV51.

Parris joined the Comets and Rockets television team after a seven-year stint as a freelance director with Fox Sports Net. His responsibilities included directing game coverage of both the Rockets and the Houston Astros as well as college baseball, men's and women's college basketball and women's college volleyball.

Prior to his time at Fox Sports Net, he spent four years with UPN 20 as the coordinating producer for the Rockets and Astros game-day broadcasts, and was the studio director for the Rockets pre-game, halftime and post-game shows. While at UPN 20, Parris won the 1988 Telly Award for the best on-air promotional spot.

Parris began his career in television production while attending the University of Arizona. He worked as a studio crew member for KGUN-TV in Tucson and was a cameraman for Arizona Wildcats football.

The Omaha, Nebraska, native lives in Houston with his wife, Terri, and daughter, Alexandra.

Haley & Team NRG

Haley

Famous for her long, flowing silver hair, boggled eyes and huggable plush blue fur, Haley is the young alien mascot of the four-time WNBA Champion Houston Comets. Her most remarkable trait is her two-foot long nose, which is always getting her into trouble – nosing it around fans and serving as the goal for a ring toss competition.

With a shoe size of 30HH and a 50-inch waistline, Haley prances around the arena spraying fans with silly string and making people laugh. Her unique strut, combined with her zany sense of humor, is enjoyed both on and off the court. Haley is heralded throughout the WNBA as a favorite among fans.

Haley, who landed in Houston on June 21, 1997, will snuggle her way into the seats at Toyota Center as well as into the hearts of Comets fans everywhere. She considers herself the largest and most loved fan of the Houston Comets.

Team NRG

The Comets Team NRG squad is considered one of the most exciting dance teams in the WNBA. This coed group of spirited and enthusiastic dancers lead Comets fans in cheering for the home team. Explosive tumbling as well as creative high-energy dance routines are performed during home games for the enjoyment of Comets fans of all ages.

Team NRG brings exciting and fun entertainment to the in-arena experience of a Houston Comets game. As the four-time WNBA Champion Houston Comets, Team NRG always gives a great performance on the court, while the talented performers celebrate and energize the game action. Ranging from pop to funk, Team NRG plays it loud and will make Toyota Center shake, rattle and roll.

The 2004 season will be the eighth Team NRG squad to perform at Comets games. Also known for their many appearances throughout the city of Houston, Team NRG is known for giving performances that make fans stand up and cheer.

Clutch City Foundation

Houston Comets Charity Luncheon

On July 23, 2003, the Clutch City Foundation held the Second Annual Houston Comets Charity Luncheon in the Ballroom of the Four Seasons Hotel in downtown Houston. The Houston Comets Charity Luncheon is the first major charity event undertaken solely by the Comets and is designed to raise funds for various non-profit organizations in the Houston area.

Over 250 enthusiastic guests joined the Comets players, coaches and broadcast personalities for the luncheon, which included silent and live auctions.

In the past two years, the event has raised more than $85,000 for the renovation of a basketball court used in the Therapeutic Recreation Program at the DePelchin Children's Center as well as for the refurbishment of basketball courts in the Houston Independent School District.

Rockets and Comets Owner Leslie Alexander established the Clutch City Foundation in 1995 to provide help, hope and inspiration to those who might otherwise be forgotten.

WNBA in the Community

The WNBA connects with fans of all ages through extensive community outreach. As we mark the eighth season of the WNBA, our players continue to be recognized for their commitment and dedication to fans in cities across America. The WNBA has three primary community initiatives: WNBA Read to Achieve, WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit. and Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA presented by Gatorade and Nike. In addition to these initiatives, the WNBA honors players who are active in their communities with the WNBA Community Assist Award presented four times a year.

WNBA Read to Achieve

Read to Achieve is a year-round, league-wide initiative supported by NBA, WNBA and NBDL teams that promotes the values of reading and on-line literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children. The program includes thousands of reading time-outs, the donation of books and literacy materials, and the creation of Reading and Learning Centers and Reading Corners throughout the world.

National and local All-Star Reading Teams have been formed consisting of current and former NBA and WNBA players and other members of the NBA and WNBA family, who promote reading efforts through in-arena events, public service announcements and school and community appearances throughout the year.

WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit.

The WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit. program is the league's primary cause-related campaign focusing on two main components – nutrition, exercise and positive self-image and breast health awareness. The platform focuses on the development and execution of events and programs that emphasize the importance of good nutrition, regular exercise and positive-self image and targets our youth fan base as well as their families.

The WNBA Breast Health Awareness program focuses on generating awareness and educating women about breast cancer in addition to raising funds for the initiative. For the second year, the WNBA is proud to have the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation as a partner and beneficiary of the program. In 2003, the WNBA and its teams raised more than $150,000 to benefit the Komen Foundation. Breast health information will be distributed to fans during in-arena awareness nights and a breast health awareness public service announcement will air on nationally televised games and in-arena. Once again, fans will have the opportunity to log onto WNBA.com to bid on their favorite item featured in the Breast Health Awareness Auction. All proceeds from these items, including games of HORSE with WNBA stars, All-Star memorabilia and WNBA autographed items, will benefit the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation.

Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA Presented by Gatorade and Nike

The Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA, presented by Gatorade and Nike, is a support organization for recreational youth basketball leagues in the United States, Canada and abroad that connects players, parents, coaches and officials to heighten awareness and participation in youth basketball. Approximately 1,000 youth basketball leagues and about 50,000 teams (for boys and girls, ages 5-14 years-old) are 2003-04 Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA members. Additionally, 100,000 coaches and 500,000 players and their parents receive program support and materials. WNBA players and coaches make drop-in visits and participate in special events with Jr. WNBA leagues across the country.

WELCOME TO TOYOTA CENTER

The new home of the Houston Rockets and Comets is here. The new state-of-the-art arena in downtown Houston that will provide fans with a world-class environment for Houston Rockets and Comets basketball action. Designed for unequalled sports entertainment with maximum spectator comfort and convenience, the 775,000 square foot, $202 million facility is now open to the public.

"It features the most technically advanced accommodations available in any arena in the nation"
- George Postolos, Rockets and Comets President and Chief Executive Officer

"This technically advanced facility will serve as a source of civic pride for the city - and give Houstonians something to be proud of for many years to come"
- Leslie Alexander, Rockets and Comets owner

Fans will have a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to share in the excitement of Toyota Center's inaugural season as the Houston Comets start the 2004 WNBA season in their new downtown home. Destined to become one of the country's finest and most spectacular sports venues, the arena is actually a combination of the most outstanding amenities found in new, recently completed sports and entertainment venues.

By visiting and studying more than ten sports entertainment facilities throughout the nation, selecting their most successful elements and combining those features together in one design, the Houston Rockets and Comets have created a premier, user-friendly facility highlighted with many exceptional amenities.

LOWER BOWL SEATING

Aimed at maximizing the view of the playing court for as many fans as possible, the new home of the Houston Rockets and Comets will provide premium sight lines while bringing fans closer than ever to game action.

CLUB SEATING

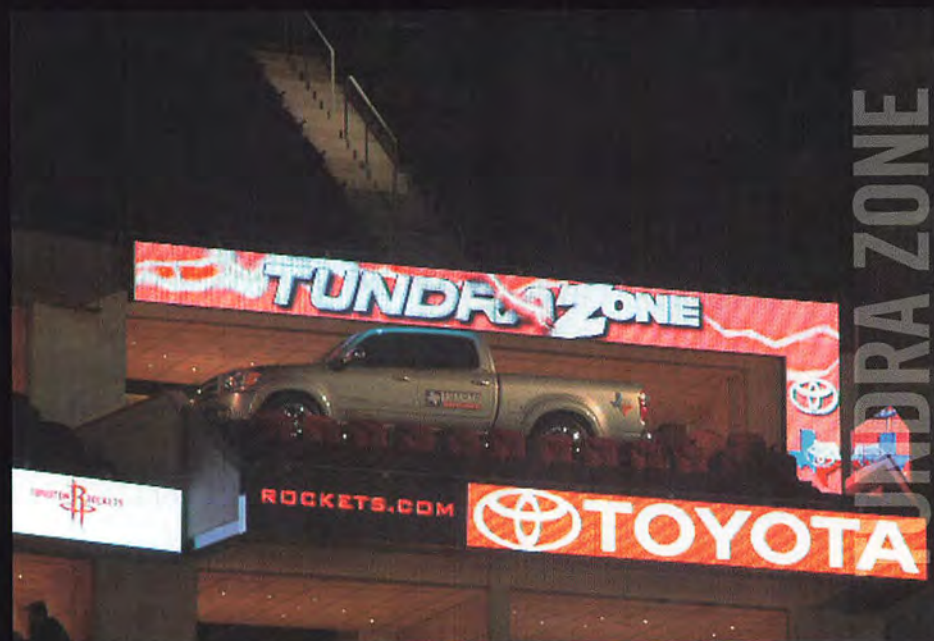

Exceptional views like those available in the new arena can only be enhanced with twenty-five hundred theater-style club seats, wider than any other major sports venue.

- Eighty luxury suites and fourteen courtside suites
- Red & White Wine Bistro
- Ledge Dining
- Club Lounges

TUNDRA ZONE

HOUSTON

The "Tundra Zone" consists of a double-size suite, which will accommodate current and potential Toyota customers. The signature element of the "Tundra Zone" is the placement of an actual Toyota Tundra in the suite, marking the only in-bowl vehicle display in any arena in the country. Additionally, fans attending events at Toyota Center will have the opportunity to view the latest models of Toyota cars and trucks at the Toyota automobile showroom located in the north section of the main concourse.

WNBA History

On April 24, 1996, women's basketball announced "We Got Next" as the NBA Board of Governors approved the concept of a Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA) to begin play in June 1997.

Since that day in 1996 there have been many firsts for the WNBA: Val Ackerman — the first president of the WNBA; Sheryl Swoopes — the first player signed to the WNBA; Cynthia Cooper — the league's first Most Valuable Player; the Houston Comets — the first WNBA Champions; Lisa Leslie — the first WNBA player to dunk.

However, the very first for the league was a "to-do list." With less than 15 months to tipoff, a league of its own began to unfold for the WNBA as each task was completed. The history of the WNBA follows:

On the Air . . .

Before a player was signed or a staff member was in place, the league announced its broadcast partnerships with NBC, ESPN and Lifetime Television. It was decided that the WNBA season would be played in the summer when the sports calendar was less crowded and the games could be televised live. During a successful inaugural season, more than 50 million viewers watched WNBA games on the three networks.

ESPN2 joined NBC and ESPN to televise WNBA games beginning in 2001 and carried live coverage of the WNBA Draft. Lifetime, which had carried games during the first four seasons, continued as a partner through 2002, presenting Players' Journal, a weekly half-hour magazine show highlighting the on and off-court lives of the league's players and coaches.

Oxygen Media signed on to televise WNBA games in 2002, and ABC Sports became a new partner through a six-year agreement that extended the WNBA's national television coverage through 2008, its 12th season. Telemundo, the fastest growing Spanish language television network in the U.S., and NBA TV, the league's 24-hour television network, also joined ABC, ESPN, ESPN2 and Oxygen in carrying WNBA games beginning with the 2003 season.

WNBA games and programming reached the largest global audience since the league's inception in 2003, with WNBA content broadcast to 183 countries in 26 languages. The league delivers an audience unique in sports. In-arena, gender breakdown is approximately 80-20 female-male. The TV audience is about 50-50 female-male, with a strong percentage of non-adult viewers.

The Players and the Teams . . .

The first of the player signings was announced on October 23, 1996, with Sheryl Swoopes and Rebecca Lobo joining the league. The duo was soon followed by Lisa Leslie, Ruthie Bolton, Cynthia Cooper, Michele Timms (the first international player) and many more WNBA hopefuls.

Eight teams were announced for the league's inaugural season. The Eastern Conference consisted of the Charlotte Sting, Cleveland Rockers, Houston Comets and New York Liberty while the Western Conference was comprised of the Los Angeles Sparks, Phoenix Mercury, Sacramento Monarchs and Utah Starzz.

On April 29, 1999, the WNBA and the Women's National Basketball Players Association (WNBPA) announced the league's first collective bargaining agreement — a first of its kind in women's team sports.

By 2000, the league had expanded to 16 teams, with the Detroit Shock and Washington Mystics joining the league in 1998, the Minnesota Lynx and Orlando Miracle in 1999, and the Indiana Fever, Miami Sol, Portland Fire and Seattle Storm in 2000.

The 2002 season saw 176 women play professional basketball in 256 regular-season WNBA games (schedule history: 34 games in 2003; 32 games from 1999-2002; 30 in 1998; 28 in 1997). Continuing to showcase talented stars from around the world, the league featured 45 players from 22 countries.

In October 2002, the NBA Board of Governors voted to restructure the WNBA to allow individual team ownership, and to allow teams to be owned by non-NBA owners and located in non-NBA markets. Orlando, Miami, Portland and Utah elected not to assume ownership of their teams, and in December, the WNBA announced the relocation of the Utah Starzz to San Antonio, which had previously been awarded a WNBA franchise. The team would be named the Silver Stars.

On January 28, 2003, the Connecticut Sun were awarded the Orlando Miracle and became the newest WNBA franchise, with the Mohegan Tribe of Indians becoming the first non-NBA owner in league history.

On April 25, 2003, the WNBA and the WNBPA signed its second collective bargaining agreement which gave WNBA players the first free agency rights in women's professional team sports.

On September 19, 2003, the Cleveland Cavaliers/Gund Arena Company announced that they decided they would no longer operate the Cleveland Rockers.

The WNBA Draft . . .

The Comets selected Tina Thompson, the Pac-10 Conference's leading scorer, with the first pick of the Inaugural WNBA Draft. Margo Dydek, a 7-2 center from Poland, was selected first in the 1998 Draft by the Starzz, and two-time Associated Press Women's Basketball Player of the Year Chamique Holdsclaw was the Washington Mystics' No. 1 selection in the 1999 Draft. In 2000, the Cleveland Rockers selected Ann Wauters from Belgium as the first overall pick, and Australian Olympian Lauren Jackson went to the Seattle Storm with the No. 1 selection in 2001. In 2002, National Player of the Year Sue Bird was selected by Seattle, who had the top pick for the second consecutive year by virtue of the WNBA's first Draft Lottery, held in New York on November 13, 2001. The Cleveland Rockers made Latoya Thomas of Mississippi State the No. 1 selection in the 2003 WNBA Draft held Friday, April 25, 2003.

The Logos and the Uniforms . . .

With players and teams in place, the league began its next task of creating logos and uniforms. The red, white and blue official WNBA logo – "Logo Woman" – was selected from about 50 different designs. After developing an extensive list of choices, the team names were selected by the league and the teams based on numerous factors, including: a tie to the NBA team name in that market, a link to a key characteristic of each city or state and/or the creation of a name fitting the current sports landscape. The uniforms also underwent several designs, and on May 21, 1997, the WNBA unveiled the team uniforms – two shorts silhouettes and three jerseys.

On May 1, 2003, the WNBA and Reebok unveiled new uniform designs which were created to maximize performance and provide optimal comfort for the players. The jerseys are tapered to fit a woman's body and are designed to be worn untucked, providing a free range of motion for the players. The new uniforms feature flat-back mesh material that incorporates Play Dry™ technology – Reebok's moisture management system that helps keep the athlete cooler, drier and more comfortable by using temperature and humidity-regulating properties in the fabric.

The WNBA and Reebok also unveiled a new style in the WNBA Footwear Collection by Reebok – the WNBA Isolation – at the beginning of the 2003 season. This shoe features the WNBA logo on the heel, tongue, sole and sock liner.

It's a Ball Game . . .

The WNBA game consists of a 30-second clock, a 20-foot, 6 ¼ -inch three-point line, two 20-minute halves, eleven-player rosters and a collegiate-regulation size ball. The WNBA's signature orange-and-oatmeal basketball by Spalding is 28.5 inches in circumference and one inch smaller than the NBA's regulation ball. In January 2003, Spalding Sports Worldwide and the WNBA announced the Spalding WNBA Infusion basketball, featuring a built-in, dual action Micro Pump®, as the new official game ball of the league beginning in the 2003 season.

Millions of Fans Join In . . .

The inaugural WNBA season tipped off on June 21, 1997, with the New York Liberty taking on the Los Angeles Sparks at the Great Western Forum in Inglewood, Calif. A crowd of 14,284 watched as Sparks guard Penny Toler scored the first basket in WNBA history. The Liberty defeated the Sparks 67-57. Then on August 22, the WNBA league attendance surpassed the 1 million mark at America West Arena in Phoenix. In 2001, the WNBA welcomed its 10 millionth fan on September 1 at the STAPLES Center in Los Angeles. In 2002, more than 2.5 million fans attended WNBA games for the second straight year, as regular-season attendance averaged more than 9,000 fans for the sixth straight season. In 2003, the WNBA season attendance topped the 2 million for the fourth consecutive year.

Fans Get Connected On-line . . .

The league website, WNBA.com, is the single most authoritative source of information for WNBA fans around the world offering late-breaking news, real-time scores, statistics, behind-the-scenes access, video highlights, the most comprehensive women's sports fantasy basketball game, WNBA Virtual GM, live chats with WNBA players and personalities, expert analysis from WNBA insiders and complete websites for all 14 WNBA teams.

On May 31, 2003 WNBA.com featured the first-ever live video webcast of a game in women's professional sports history when the Detroit Shock played the Charlotte Sting. The success of the groundbreaking webcast led to the launch of WNBA Broadband Season Pass, a multimedia subscription service featuring 10 additional live webcasts of WNBA games, WNBA Season Audio Pass and broadband highlights and features.

Overall the popularity of WNBA.com continues to soar. During the 2003 season, WNBA.com averaged over 60,000 visits per day.

League Showcases All-Stars . . .

On July 14, 1999, the league held the Inaugural WNBA All-Star Game at Madison Square Garden in New York, televised live on ESPN. The capacity crowd of 18,649 witnessed the incredible sportsmanship, teamwork, enthusiasm, fan involvement and in-arena excitement that characterizes the WNBA. The Western Conference All-Stars – led by the game's Most Valuable Player and Los Angeles Sparks center Lisa Leslie – defeated the Eastern Conference 79-61.

All-Star excitement continued in 2000 as the game moved to the America West Arena in Phoenix on July 17. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars 73-61 before a crowd of 17,717 as Houston's Tina Thompson captured MVP honors. Leslie earned her second All-Star MVP award at the 2001 WNBA All-Star Game, played at the TD Waterhouse Centre in Orlando, Fla., on July 16 in front of 16,906 fans. The West claimed its third victory with an 80-72 defeat of the East. The 2002 WNBA All-Star Game was played on Monday, July 15 in Washington, D.C., at the MCI Center. The West All-Stars defeated the East All-Stars 81-76 in front of a crowd of 19,487, with Leslie earning MVP honors for the third time. ESPN televised the game live through the 2002 game.

In 2003, the WNBA All-Star Game marked its fifth anniversary with a return to Madison Square Garden on July 12. The event was held on the weekend for the first time and made its network television debut on ABC. The West All-Stars won the event for the fifth straight year by beating the East All-Stars 84-75 in front of 18,610 fans, with Nikki Teasley of the Los Angeles Sparks taking home the MVP honors.

WNBA Finals . . .

The first four years of the WNBA saw the Houston Comets dominate the league Finals and create the first dynasty of the WNBA. The Comets captured the inaugural Championship against New York on August 30, 1997 by a score of 65-51. Comets guard, Cynthia Cooper won the first Finals MVP award. In 1998, the WNBA Finals was expanded to a three-game series and Houston defeated Phoenix two games to one and Houston's Cynthia Cooper captured her second consecutive Finals MVP award. In 1999, New York advanced back to the Championship and played Houston, a rematch of the 1997 Championship game. The Comets outlasted the Liberty to win their third straight WNBA Championship, two games to one and Houston's Cynthia Cooper won her third Finals MVP award. In 2000, Houston and New York played for the third time in four years with the results the same as the previous years with Houston winning their fourth straight WNBA Championship, two games to none and Houston's Cynthia Cooper captured her fourth straight Finals MVP award. In 2001, Los Angeles knocked off Houston in the early rounds of the Western Conference playoffs and advanced on to meet Charlotte in the WNBA Finals. Los Angeles, behind the play of Finals MVP Lisa Leslie, won the WNBA Finals two games to none. In 2002, Los Angeles advanced to the WNBA Finals and earned the right to defend their WNBA championship versus New York. The Sparks defeated the Liberty two games to zero and won their second consecutive Finals and Lisa Leslie won the WNBA Finals MVP award for the second straight year.

In 2003, the Los Angeles Sparks returned to the Finals with the opportunity to win three straight WNBA Championships. However, the Detroit Shock advanced through the Eastern Conference and reached the Finals and because they finished the regular season with the best record in the league, they earned home court advantage for the Finals. It ended up be vital as the Sparks won the first game in Los Angeles to take a one game to zero lead. Detroit bounced back to win game two, 62-61 to even the series one game a piece. The third and final game was played in front of a sell out crowd and record attendance for the WNBA of 22,076. The Shock captured the WNBA crown winning the game by a score of 83-78 as Detroit center Ruth Riley was awarded the Series MVP.

We Got Game . . .

Women's basketball has come a long way since its beginnings in 1892 when Senda Berenson adapted James Naismith's basketball rules for women. And with the continued growth of the WNBA, the sport is sure to go even further. For more information on the WNBA and its history, log onto WNBA.com.

Your Fur Coat Could Save an Animal's Life

Please join me, Liza Minnelli, Mary Tyler Moore, Lauren Bacall, and others who have had a change of heart about wearing fur. Give your fur a new lease on life. Donate your coat to PETA, where it will be used in educational displays and anti-fur fashion shows. All donations are tax-deductible.

#10 Retired Number

#10 Kim Perrot

January 18, 1967 – August 19, 1999

Comets Career: Guard (1997-1998)

Hometown: Lafayette, LA

High School: Acadiana High School (Lafayette, LA)

College: Southwestern Louisiana '90

"My life has a plan, and this is just another chapter. It all revolves around the same thing – struggles I've had – and how throughout those struggles I've always won the battle. This is another battle. It's just a bigger battle. I will still tell my story."

Kim Perrot, March 17, 1999, one month after being diagnosed with cancer.

On August 19, 1999, surrounded by her family and friends, Comets point guard Kim Perrot peacefully passed away after a seven-month battle with cancer. In honor of the team's fiery point guard, who helped lead the Houston Comets to their first two WNBA Championships, the team retired the #10 jersey on July 29, 2000. It was the first player's jersey ever retired in WNBA history.

Standing at just 5'5", Kim Perrot exuded confidence and athleticism. On the court, she was fast and furious, never relenting on defense and always in the face of the opponent. Off the court, Kim became the tiny spark that caught fire and kept the team burning with passion and intensity.

Kim Perrot always had the heart and drive to succeed in anything she tried. As the point guard for the back-to-back WNBA Champion Houston Comets, Kim made a name for herself as a great basketball player, a wonderful person, and a courageous fighter.

Kim, a Louisiana native and the youngest of six children, was told all her life that she was too small to play basketball. Kim refused to listen and vowed to prove her doubters wrong. She played four seasons at Southwest Louisiana, where she set 26 school records and recorded the NCAA's second-highest scoring performance in a single game with 58 points against Southeastern Louisiana. Kim also won two USA Basketball Championships (1989, 1990), and was voted Honorable Mention All-America and Player of the Year (1989-90 season) for her conference.

Kim played for four teams overseas before trying out for the Comets. She was playing in Europe when she learned that the WNBA's inaugural season would start in the summer of 1997. Kim came to Houston determined to find a way to get into the tryouts. After persistently calling the Comets coaching staff, she was invited to join 55 other players to try out for only two roster spots. Kim showed her fire and determination and won over Head Coach Van Chancellor for a spot on the Houston roster. Not willing to simply be a player at the end of the bench, Kim worked her way up to starting point guard. Providing a crucial spark for the Comets with her positive energy, fearlessness and relentless floor leadership, Kim was the catalyst that propelled the team to back-to-back WNBA Championships.

What made Kim Perrot a woman of exceptional character was her ability to overcome personal adversity and, all the while, focus on the needs of people around her who are facing similar challenges. Kim's ongoing commitment to encouraging and motivating young people to succeed had an enormously positive affect on children throughout the city. Her success in life was a direct result of her character and the principles that defined her – faith, determination and hard work. Kim's positive outlook, in the face of adversity, continues to provide inspiration and motivation for each of us to succeed against all odds.

Kim is survived by her mother Consuella Perrot, brothers Craig and Kevin Perrot, sister Loretta and brother-in-law Aaron Williams, aunt Joycelyn Boze and many nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her sister Lynette Perrot and brother Keith Perrot.

"She had such joy in her life. There will never be another Kim Perrot."

Van Chancellor, Head Coach and General Manager of the Houston Comets and Kim's favorite dominos partner.

Toyota Center

The 2004 WNBA season marks the first year that the Houston Comets will call Toyota Center home. Toyota Center is a 775,000 square foot, $202 million facility located at 1510 Polk Street in downtown Houston. The state-of-the-art arena, which opened in September 2003, offers premium sight lines in the lower bowl, access to the Lexus Lounge for courtside suiteholders, luxury suites, club seating and lounges, Red & White Wine Bistro as well as ledge dining. Toyota Center seats 17,974 for a sold-out Comets game. The Comets played seven consecutive years (1997-2003) at Compaq Center (formerly known as The Summit) before moving into Toyota Center.

Season Tickets

Enjoy all the advantages of being a Season Ticket Holder, including preferred prices less than mini-plans and individual game tickets. Season Ticket Holder benefits include: 1) Purchase additional single game tickets at Season Ticket Holder prices; 2) Guaranteed playoff ticket priority; and 3) Season Ticket Holder hotline to assist fans with all their needs. To find out more about season tickets, contact the Comets at (713) 627-WNBA.

Mini-Plan Ticket Packages

Short on time but big on Comets action? Check out the six-game mini-plan ticket packages. To find out more about mini-plan ticket packages, contact the Comets at (713) 627-WNBA.

Group Tickets

Purchase tickets for a group of 15 or more people and receive the following: 1) A pre-game group welcome over the PA; 2) Group name recognition in lights on the scoreboard; 3) Special group leader incentive programs; 4) Group Account Executive to assist with needs and questions; and 5) A game-night drawing held for a chance at a Comets gift for someone in the group. For more details about group tickets, contact the Comets at (713) 627-WNBA.

Individual Tickets

In Person: Visit Toyota Center Box Office.

By Phone: Charge tickets to American Express, Discover, VISA or MasterCard by calling 1-877-COMETS-WIN.
